THE ZOMBIES!

The Zombie Rampage

By William Hanson ,Alfie Beever,Caden Whittaker and a little help from Mrs Hudson

Chapter One - How it was caused

One Monday morning, during SATs week, in Mr Cairns classroom, the children were having a science lesson where they had to mix lots of different chemicals together to see what kind of reaction it had. Mr Cairns (the class teacher and Science lead) had to leave the classroom as there was a problem in Mr Lowry's classroom with some equipment. As soon as he left, Max, Keeden and Mason dared each other to drink the concoction they had mixed. There was no immediate reaction but it tasted repulsive and the boys went in for their dinner. It was pizza. The food did not taste nice and they all started to feel sick. They told Mrs Elvidge in the dinner hall who told them to get some fresh air and they would be ok.

Chapter Two - The Change

Max, Keiden and Mason decided to go out and play football with Charlie on the field. Suddenly, Max noticed his muscle started to expand. He ran to Charlie to brag about it.

“Check out my big muscles” Max bragged to Charlie as he formed a fist and bent his arm at the elbow to flex his new bigger arm.

Charlie looked confused and giggled nervously.

“What’s happened to you?” Charlie asked as he kicked the ball to William.

The veins in Max’s neck began to throb and a sudden urge of sickness overwhelmed him and he vomited violently in Charlie’s direction.

Mason and Keidan abruptly followed suit.

Chapter 3: The Rampage

Charlie quickly became twitchy like all the others. Could this be the start of an apocalypse?

Soon the field was overrun by what appeared to be viscous monsters. Covered in this vile substance, Brooke ran inside to clean herself up but on the way she bumped into Mrs Dudill. Just then, she began to brutally twitch and foam at the mouth. Unfortunately, Mrs Dudill's response was to retrieve a wet paper towel. As she turned to help Brooke, her first instinct was to scream and frantically run to Mrs Perceval's office to explain the situation, without actually knowing the whole story.

Chapter 4 :The end of Sandhill

After Mrs Perceval had heard this, she made an important call to Mr Roddinson, who was the head of the school. Meanwhile, the infection had spread across the entire school. It was utter chaos. Whilst on the phone, Mr Roddinson peeped through the blind to see that the entire school field was in bedlam. He realised that he needed to act quickly so he ran into Mr Cairn's classroom and asked him to help make an antidote. Once the antidote was finished being made, Mr Roddinson ran to Mr Brookes and asked him if he could put the antidote in the water tank. He told him to use the hose pipe to spray the quick working antidote all over the field. Mr Brookes agreed with it and quickly soaked the infected children. The children then started to turn back.

The End
